THE HASTINGS CHRONICLE.

ENGLISH SEAMEN MURDERED BY SAVAGES.

The Evening of Augt. 30th stated.

An English vessel, the "Holden," of 140 tons, when she was plying off Trincomalee, and anchored off the island of Nicobar, and about 100 miles from Pulo Naukru, a place notorious for the treachery of its inhabitants and the many vessels that have from time to time been attacked there. The treacherous natives appeared friendly, and brought coconuts and poultry, which they sold at a high price.

On the fourth day, five boats came along side, containing thirty persons, and five or six went on board and entered into a friendly chat with the Naochad, sitting and smoking with him. After holding parley for some time, of whom called out to a man in one of the boats for fire, which he brought out in a thick basket on his head, he set fire, hit the Naochad on the head with the bamboo, and knocked him down. On this the men, who were quietly seated in the boat, watched with interest the scene. A small English boat, with a number of men, was going on board the brig, rushed up with the billow of the sea and sprays, clubbing and shooting the crew, and ran panic-stricken to the deck. In the confusion there was named Sultan (steward), Shabir Daud (topman), and Pakier (cook), ran down the hold and hid themselves behind wood and mats, where they remained till the noise on deck had subsided. When they emerged from their place of concealment and went on deck it was getting dark, and not a single soul was on board, nor a boat in sight. There was no moon, but the bodies of the condemned men had been thrown overboard by the murderers. The survivors got the pin out of the shackle of the chain, slipped it, and put out to sea, being a little distance from the shore when they discovered these symptoms looked deathly bad. Gathering himself up, he made tracks for a saloon over the way, and there awaited the arrival of the mate, captain, and owner, who was horrified at finding that the only wife of a learned brother having an office on the same flat. He quietly took a drink and went back to his quietude. No greater coincidence needs no occurs.

Mr. Smith, the steward, had a visit from a revolver with a young lady he had hit, or would not have taken a swing in such a harsh manner. We understand that this young man is a well-known and popular personage, and his conduct looks like a madman's. Every visitor has got to shout his name and address through the keyhole, and the steward needs to have a key to open them. There is no woman on board, and the only female crew member has been thrown overboard by the murderer.

The survivors got the pin out of the shackle of the chain, slipped it, and put out to sea, being a little distance from the shore when they discovered these symptoms looked deathly bad.

A European college is about to be established at Pekin, with the consent of the Chinese Government. The world moves.

The Florence Nightingale of the Nursery.

The following is an extract from a letter written by the Rev. C. Z. Waite, to the German Refresher Messenger, at Chambéry, Penn.:

"A benefactress.

Just open the door for her, and Mrs. Winslow will present American Florence Nightingale to the Nursery. Often we have so much to tell each other, that we have no time to wash our 'Soys' to send them. A Banquet on Mrs. Winslow's for helping her to survive and escape the griping, colic, and teething sieve. We confide every sort of ailment to the Professor. It performs precisely what it promises to perform, every part of it nothing less. Away with your 'Cordials'! 'Pare-gins,' 'Drops,' 'Laudanum,' and every other 'Narcotic,' by which the babe is drugged into stupidity, and rendered dull and idiotic for life.

We have never seen Mrs. Winslow—know her only through the preparation of her "Sothing Syrup for Children Testing." If we had the power, we would have her, as a physician, in the Infants' Race, 25 cents a bottle. Sold by all drugists.

Be sure and call for."

"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP." All others are lame and dangerous imitations.

INTERNATIONAL CHAIN OF

COMMERCIAL COLLEGES

EXTENDING from the eastern coast of New England to the bank of the Missouri, in each of fifty leading Commercial Cities of Canada and the United States, and employing over two hundred Professors and Lecturers, with a daily attendance of several thousand young men, representing all the States and the British Provinces, affording the best facilities for admission. The fifth and final edition of the General Bible appeared in England.

During Queen Elizabeth's reign, the Bishop's Bible was published. Fifteen learned men, most of them Bishops, were employed on this work. It was completed in 1568. In some respects it was superior to that of Cranmer, but not equal to the General Bible which appeared in England.

During King James' reign there was a regular demand for a better translation of the Holy Scriptures. The King compiled with the demand and set on foot the necessary preliminaries on a scale surpassing all that had been witnessed in England in connection with Bible translation.

The heads of the Universities were called to add to the number of others who had been called to assist him. The Bishops were called to spare no pains for securing the suggestions and criticisms of the best scholars in their dioceses, "that so," in His Majesty's words, "our said intended translation may have the help and furtherance of all our principal learned men within this kingdom."

The work was commenced in 1604. It was published in 1611 with a dedication to the King. This is the common version, and the one in use at the present day.

EIGHTEEN YEARS IN A DUNGEON.

A newspaper published at Colima, Mexico, tells the following frightful story, and calls upon the public to praise the criminal.

"When Gen. Peobita entered the town of Ayo, in September last, he exacted a forced loan from the people, and a portion of it fell upon the court of the place. The court acted as though he would pay but did not make his appearance at the point designated. Gen. and Gen. Peobita ordered him to be arrested. A party of men went to his dwelling and knocked at the door; there was no answer, and they broke in. They found no one in the house, and were about to leave, when they heard a frightful voice proceeding from the ground saying, 'I am angry.' The effort in commanding such a voice, and Gen. Peobita had second thoughts, and told him about the voice. The General appointed a commission to examine the house.

The commission went to the dwelling of the curate, and after a careful examination they found a morsel of stone in the floor, and under this a staircase leading down to a vault, which was entirely dark, and had no connection with the air way above the staircase. It contained a small hole that served as a vent.

In this vault they discovered a few archives of furniture, and a woman who had been shut up there for eighteen years. She was taken to Gen. Peobita's quarters—

Wine brought into the light, where she re-

After she had returned to her scenes, a thousand questions were asked her, to which she replied that she had been buried for eighteen years, without going out for a moment; that she had been married, and had children, but that she had been buried in the vault, she had children by the time she was born, but she knew nothing of what had become of those children; and after that much became obviously silent. While this was passing, a sergeant of the Puebla brigade, the priest, who had been captured by the army, and who had been with the wife of her son, and embraced him. When the sergeant ran for the father, who came and recognized the wife. The husband, fifteen years ago, was imprisoned three years under the charge of murdering his wife, this woman;

THIS remarkable discovery has gained a popularity unprecedented in the history of medicinal preparations, having been the means of restoring hundreds of afflicted persons who were entirely given up by their physicians.

The proprietors publish, however, that if the Egyptian Oil is used according to directions it will positively cure the most severe cases of Rheumatism, or Neuralgia, in a very short time.

For Diphtheria, or Sore Throat, it is the only thoroughly reliable medicine in existence.

It will relieve Headache immediately, and will cure the worst cases of Toothache, or Earache.

Egyptian Oil also cures Gout, Cholera, Fevers, &c., Soothes Backache, Stomachache, Skin-Neck, Head-Neck, Spasms, Bruises, Burns, &c., and Fractures.

Dr. A. TRASK's MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

CURES CROUP OR RATTLES.

DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT.

At the age of six months I have used Dr. A. Trask's Magnetic Ointment in my practice a number of years, and can say with pleasure I deem it one of the greatest discoveries of the age; for the cure of RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, & CROUP, & the CURE OF THE BOWELS, INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM, & CHILD-BED FEVER, it operates with perfect success. In cases of Hernia, Sciatica, & Fractures, it acts like a charm.

DR. J. S. KENNEDY, CHIRURGON, N.Y., says—“It has stood the test tried, and has not been found wanting. Its astonishing cures of inflammation of the Lungs and Uropath and the wonderful results in subduing the tertorian pain are well known to all medical men. Its effects, while it is a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints.”

Dr. A. W. COOPER, of Knoxville, N.Y., says—“I have used it with great success in cases of Spastic Irritation and for the worst cases of Pleurisy and sundry other complaints, and find it a superior article, and well worthy the claim that it is a ‘miracle’.”

Purchasers should be sure and ask for DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT, or these words—A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT—before they purchase.

THE AUBURN MURDER.
In the Lewiston Journal, having received an express from the authorities to give the facts of the confession of the murderer of her son, Clinton Harris, and the arrest of the murderer of two aged women at the Auburn, Me., publishes them at considerable length. We abstract the general outline.

The Harris says the plan was breached to him by his author S. Verill (a white man, now almost dead) under arrest as an alleged accomplice.
He had been returning from Lewiston and held out the reward of a large amount of money in his house, and also suggested another investigation, which shall be nameless. While the particular object of entering the house was robbery, Harris says he had no idea the murder was intended, or would be necessary. But he says he could make out their reasoning if the parties ended in the robbery, then the inmates were to be killed. But if they were recognized, then both women were to be put to the way.

In the evening of the murder, Harris had his lodger (Mr. Keith's) house a slight distance away, visited several times and obtained a pint bottle full of whisky, and fortified himself with four drinks before leaving, leaving to return home through the village and sitting to the room where Mrs. Kinsey slept, and Harris says he still entered the room where he was at the time. Kinsey saying "Polly! Polly! I come in!" — Polly being the name given Mr.
Harris. It was so dark that nothing could be seen. As soon as the shrieks were given off the assailant took Mrs. Kinsey, and nearly instantaneously, running out of the bedroom, through the mattole there, stealth-ily got behind Polly and struck her on the head with, as he supposed, the hatchet.
The details which here follow of the mur-derer of these two helpless old women after a brutal violation of one of them when incapable, too horrible a publication.]

The Harris was then sent for a light, and as he was not to stay there, he went to a close in that place. While the negro was searching for the money, Polly Cawell, blown by the rays, came out into the front room, and proceeded to the mantle piece, where she was trying to light a lamp.

The accomplice, hearing Polly coming out, left the bedchamber of Mrs. Kinsey, and nearly instantaneously, running out of the
bedroom, through the mattole there, stealth-ily got behind Polly and struck her on the head with, as he supposed, the hatchet.

The negro then appeared, and the demand was repeated, when it was so dark that nothing could be seen. As soon as the shrieks were given

R. HOLDEN & CO.

Belleville, December 18th, 1865.

FIVE O'CLOCK IN THE MORNING.

This day my slumber on the grass:

A mist lay on the brook;

At the earliest beam of the golden sun,

The swallow her nest forsook;

The snowy bloom of the hawthorn tree

Lay thickly, the ground abounding;

The birds were singing in every bush;

And little, this unlimited, quiet life,

For the meadows were fresh and fair;

The breeze of the morning kissed her brow;

And played with her not brown hair;

But off she went, and never turned around.

It was a silent morning,

Two times for the swallows to hear her say,

At five o'clock in the morning.

GOLD MINING IN CANADA.

Mr. J. M. Wisselich, General Manager of the De Levy Gold Mining Co., writes to the American Mining Index, New York,

24th January, as follows:

"I would like to say, that by far the largest deposit of gold and masses of suriferous quartz rock yet discovered on this side of the mountain, is in the vicinity of the town of Quesnel, in the Quesnel Valley; and that we seek for more valuable quartzes than those of Nova Scotia, where quartz mining, though still in its infancy, is already a productive industry. That the working of these De Levy Gold Mines is destined soon to revolutionize public opinion in regard to the mineral formation of the Atlantic Coast,

I have no doubt. This Company—gives me an instance of the confidence with which we can work."
